

Longest Day Golf Challenge

The People's Major fact sheet

What the challenge is about

It's a golf challenge to raise money for Macmillan Cancer Support. It's like one of golf's majors, but with a very big twist. While pros settle into the clubhouse after completing just 18 holes in a day, we're asking fundraising teams of four to go even further for people living with cancer.

What it involves

A challenge choice of 72 or 100 holes. Teams playing the longer challenge lengths will tee off at dawn and play on until they reach that final hole. Their friends and family are encouraged to cheer them on along the way.

When it is

On or around 21 June – the longest day of the year. This is so they can make the most of the daylight hours.

What it's for

Macmillan provides vital physical, financial and emotional support to people with cancer when it's needed most. We can help with decisions around treatment, help with money and work matters, and provide reassurance for people and their families.

How the team will be fundraising

Through their online team page on the website but they will also be accepting offline donations through sponsorship forms or cash on the day.

How teams score

Scoring is the best two Stableford scores in the team per hole, with full handicap allowance, if they have one. Their score doesn't affect what they fundraise, but it doesn't hurt to try! Inactive handicaps will be accepted. An official handicap isn't needed to join in.

What tees teams should play from

To save time they should play off the forward tees.

How teams can order merchandise

They can visit our online shop and order lots of items to get geared up and ready for the big day on your course. shop.macmillan.org.uk/golf
